A GROWING NEWSPAPER IN A GROWING COMMUNITY

Volume 52, Number 51 — CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA — Thursday, November 13, 1947

The November sunshine is on the thin side. Don't tell the C of C, but our roses took a slight frost last night. Parlor furnaces and fireplaces are definitely "in".

Our Town

By Peggy Blanchard

Inquiry about the date of death of the late Ralston Alison, reported in this newspaper Sept. 24, 1926, brings to mind an important function of your local Press.

County records were destroyed in the Courthouse fire at San Jose some years ago, so the newspaper story now constitutes a principal means of establishing the fact of death.

Mr. Alison was founder and first president of Campbell's Kiwanis club. He was manager of the local branch of the Mercantile Trust company, afterward succeeded by American Trust company.

Finding of his body beside Dry Creek road on Sept. 21, 1926, led to a coroner's inquest in which the jury returned a verdict of suicide by a vote of six to four. Two bullet wounds were found in his chest and the Trust company pistol lay nearby.

His family and many friends have maintained that he was no suicide, and John McNab, famous San Francisco attorney, was brought into the case in an attempt to establish the fact that he must have been killed by a person or persons unknown.

It's said that McNab, who is supposed to be the real life counterpart of Perry Mason in the detective stories, convinced an insurance company of some doubtfulness of the suicide label and that he made a cash settlement with them on behalf of the widow.

And now, in lieu of other records, the old mystery is brought to light again.

What - is-this-world-coming-to: Heard a fellow on the radio telling of a college professor who has spent 15 years experimenting with dice-rolling. It seems he has "discovered" that both playing cards and dice will respond to concentrated wishing. This news has probably caused a great excitement in the Army and among professional gamblers. I'm going to concentrate my wishing on four or five coats of white paint for the editor's house and see what happens!

Here's thanks to St. Lucy's Evening Guild for a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. We'll respond with good wishes for success of their benefit dance Saturday evening.

Mrs. M. S. Hughes came in to tell us of some of the additional money-raising plans women of the parish have for their new parish house, too. Now that the local church has been promoted to parish status, improvements are bound to follow.

Mrs. H. E. Peck's skill as a gardener must be well known around here, but this reporter was bigeyed to see a rose she picked from her bushes yesterday. It's at least seven inches wide and a brilliant red, with deep green, glossy leaves.

Most fascinating character of the week: T. M. Bohn, who informs us that he is "opening" Saturday as Santa Claus for a San Jose department store. He also confides he'll be riding in a helicopter for the first time when he arrives to begin the Christmas shopping season with a flourish.

Mr. Claus—I mean Bohn—has spent years as a publicity man in Hollywood and worked with Roy Rogers and other famous folk 'way back when - - - so arranging an entry by air from the North Pole doesn't look too difficult to him.

Council To List Leaders, Events

A leadership file and a community master-calendar are two projects undertaken by Campbell Coordinating Council this week.

Adults who may be available to assist with Scout, Campfire, handicraft groups and with Sunday school classes have been asked to register with the council so that it can extend the activities now offered local youngsters.

The calendar of events is to be a voluntary listing of dates important to each local organization so that dances, meetings, lectures and other special occasions can be arranged on the most favorable dates, without conflict with previously scheduled activities.

FRIENDSHIP TRAIN ROLLS

(From Drew Pearson's Column—Washington Merry-Go-Round)

One criticism that used to be leveled against the Roosevelt administration was that the nation's leadership came entirely from Washington. The people of the U. S., it was said, got into the bad habit of sitting on their hands, doing nothing for themselves.

Whether that charge was true or false, some healthy signs are now apparent that the American people are quite capable of acting on their own.

One of them is the Friendship Train. With no help from the government whatsoever — although with hearty White House aproval —the Friendship Train is rolling across the country.

Leaving Los Angeles with an engine, a caboose and a boxcar, it will collect food from the plain people of America for the stricken people of Western Europe. Boxcars will be added at stops across the continent.

Judging from the response from all sorts of people—including railroad presidents, housewives, farmers—a thundering demonstration of the generosity of America will roll across the great plains, showing the people of Europe that help in their hour of need comes not from closed-door diplomatic conferences, but from the heart of America.

Most important of all is the fact that the Friendship Train is almost entirely spontaneous. It is the sort of thing that couldn't happen in Russia, because in Russia it is only a handful of men who decide whether wheat shall move to France, and then go out and collect what they need from the Russian peasants.

When the Russian people are able to start a spontaneous friendly movement such as this, then there no longer will be any danger of war between our two countries. Also, if the people of Western Europe get the full significance of this American generosity, there won't be any doubt as to whose side they will be on.

That, of course, is one big reason for the Friendship Train, and why newsreels of the train will be shown in European theaters, and why the French and Italian embassies are working on the idea of meeting the food shipments on the other side with two European Friendship Trains to carry the cargoes from the French and Italian seaports through Italy and France.

Out of its bounty this week, southern Santa Clara Valley dipped a carload of food that is on its way this morning by air to meet the Friendship Train at dockside, New York City.

Little fanfare accompanied the gift—the third public kind of giving that residents of the Los-Gatos-Campbell area have been called on for in nearly the same number of weeks.

With County-wide Community Chest campaigns just closed, and while some 200 volunteer workers plus thousands of private contributors strive to make the dream of a new, bigger O'Connor Hospital a reality by their presents, there was still enough to spare for a brotherly appeal from across the sea.

Prunes, raisins, apricots and tomatoes from the Valley, canned goods of all kinds, meats and money to purchase even more were gathered up and will be flown by the 6000 pound load from California Eastern Airways airport, Oakland, beginning today.

Although today (Thursday) is the deadline for actual packages of foodstuffs, money can still be contributed and the inpromptu committee in charge hope to raise another $1500. in order to fill a complete carload from this district.

Frank Barber, Los Gatos, an ex-G.I. is credited with suggesting the Campbell-Los Gatos districts lend a hand to filling the friendship train forming at Los Angeles.

That was one week ago, Nov. 6.

E. O. Thornwaldson, Grace Freudenthal and Effie Walton have served as a committee to dovetail efforts of the Business and professional Women's club, Chambers of Commerce and service clubs.

News of the Friendship train spread like magic—"here's our chance to DO ssomething about the European situation"—

Ranchers, students, business people and housewives added to the stack. They made it an early Thanksgiving to insure a Chirstmas—if not of plenty—at least less dolefull for their brothers on the other side of the world..

New Schools 40% Completed, Henley

William C. Henley, superintendent of schools, announced this week that the new schools now under construction in the Campbell Union School district were going ahead as scheduled and that it was hoped they would be ready for occupancy in February.

The San Tomas and Morepark children are now attending classes in the Campbell Grammar school in the afternoon session, necessitating a double shift of students during the day. These two schools are completely organized and as soon as the school are completed will move to the new buildings.

O'Connor Hospital Campaign Staff Hold Kick-off Luncheon Today

O'Connor Hospital's campaign to raise funds toward building of a modern eight-story hospital to replace the present antiquated structure went into full swing today Nov 13, when members of the central committee held a kick-off luncheon in Sainte Claire Hotel, San Jose.

This committee's goal in the campaign is $1,000,000. While the new O'Connor's will be a $3,000,000 structure, the public is being asked to raise only part of this sum. The Sisters of Charity, who have administered the institution since its founding in 1889, will match, dollar for dollar, any amount given by the public up to $1,500,000.

The new O'Connor's will be built on the hospital grounds south of the present building. It will be a grade A, approved general hospital with facilities for 300 patients.

Speakers at the kick-off luncheon will be Dr. E. O. G. Schmitt, members of the campaign executive committee and head of the doctors' public relations committee, whose topic is "Hospital Needs;" Remo N. Cipolla, San Jose internal revenue officer, who will speak on income tax deductions; and Patrick H. Peabody, general chairman of the campaign, who will discuss campaign plans.

Approximately 200 volunteer workers—members of central committee—are expected to attend the meeting, according to David C. Kirby, central committee chairman, who will preside. Purpose of the luncheon is to assign supplies and give general instructions so committeemen can go into the field immediately.

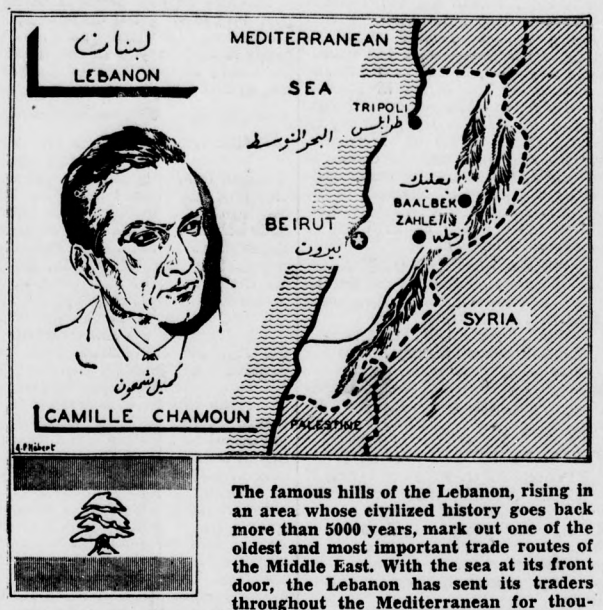

"Central committee workers were hand picked in order that each committeeman can discuss plans for the new O'Connor Hospital with his prospects," Kirby said.

Majors heading the 10 battalions of central committee are A. E. Cancilla, Irvin A. Frasse, Paul T. Gallagher, Luke A. Kelly, S. L. LoBue, Everett D. Myers, Charles A. O'Brien, Jr., Jerry M. O'Brien, F. H. Seelig, and Roger R. Williams.

Mr. Peabody, in discussing the O'Connor Hospital campaign, pointed out that this is the first time since the original O'Connor's was turned over to the Sisters in 1889 that they have asked the public for help.

"The present serious shortage of hospital facilities in this area has made it imperative that the new O'Connor's be built," he declared.

U.N. Facts and Faces . . . . . LEBANON

The famous hills of the Lebanon, rising in an area whose civilized history goes back more than 5000 years, mark out one of the oldest and most important trade routes of the Middle East. With the sea at its front door, the Lebanon has sent its traders throughout the Mediterranean for thousands of years. The modern Republic of Lebanon has existed independently since 1941 after a period under a League of Nations Mandate, administered by France. Lebanon, whose most important industry is agriculture, is proud of her American and French universities in the capital, Beirut. Camille Chamoun represents her at the United Nations General Assembly. Her flag, adopted in 1943, has two red and one white stripe, in which is a green Cedar of Lebanon.

Petition To Abandon Three Irrigation Lines

Petition to abandon three branch irrigation lines that have been in use many years has been made by Campbell Water company to the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors.

Nov. 25 has been set for hearings in the matter, which affects four ranches in the Campbell district.

Ten ranches were formerly served by the lines, but six of them have been served by another source for the past two years, during which the two lines north of Campbell Union High School and Grammar School have not been in use. A third line, in the Harrison-Hamilton section, has been used by four ranchers. Other water supply is available to replace the lines the company seeks to abandon, the water office disclosed.

Difficulties in maintaining present lines has made it necessary to ask for permission to close them, company officials said. In many places the lines are so close to the surface that constant repair is required, especially along Harrison avenue. In other places, domestic building has resulted in multiple relocations and repairs.

No household water supply is involved in the proposed change of service.

A La Mark Twain, This Report Is Grossly Erroneous

All in a dither and with his usually placid face scrounged up in a scowl, L. E. Garcia burst in upon us yesterday with a blanket denial of the reports he says are going around town about his business demise.

Mr. Garcia, who does a right smart piece of the plumbing and heating business in this part of the county, was just a little bit irked that reports of his winding up his business affairs were going the rounds.

He has had the services of a firm of business management engineers for the past several weeks. At the conclusion of their work several changes were advised in their report. Since Mr. Garcia had hired the firm for just that purpose, and paid a sizeable fee for the advice, he felt quite naturally that he should follow out their suggestions.

An entirely new bookkeeping system was installed, personnel changes made, new lines of merchandise obtained and the over-all operations of the firm were placed on a much more efficient basis.

"You can say for me that the reports of my business demise are greatly exaggerated," stated Mr. Garcia, as he boiled out of the office.

13th Jersey Jinxes Local Ball Toter

Campbell's Eleven will be minus one field general for its last home game of the season Friday against Washington.

Reg Gazay, who wore jersey No. 13 on Campbell Union High School's varsity football team up to the time of his injury Friday in the Campbell-Mt View game, has a new position to play for the remainder of the season.

He will assist Coach Art Swenson from the bench while a dislocated shoulder mends. Reg hopes to be in conditin to begin the Basket Ball season late in December.

His former halfback position as punter and passer will be filled by Delbert Ambler and Richard Abernante; Bob Merrill and Danny Hill will take turns as field general from their quarterback positions. They will call signals and decide on-the-spot strategy.

A senior who has already won his block "C" for the season, Reg is also a letter-man in Basket Ball. In addition to the Washington game, Campbell will meet San Jose and Los Gatos High Schools, Nov. 21 and 27, the last game to be played Thanksgiving Day morning in Los Gatos.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

By Harry Blanchard

The Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors, in an action last Monday, accepted and caused to be published a petition for the incorporation of Campbell. A hearing in the matter will be held on Friday morning, November 28, at 10 a.m. in the supervisors' chambers at the Santa Clara County courthouse in San Jose.

The petition, which required a minimum of 25% of all property owners owning land within the proposed boundaries, contains the names of well over the legally prescribed limit. The list of land owners signing the document is printed elsewhere in this issue.

Very little opposition to the proposal to incorporate the town was noticed by the volunteers who circulated the petition. In some cases misunderstanding or a lack of complete knowledge of the plan caused doubt and speculation as to the advisability of incorporating now, but most of those approached were willing and anxious to see the matter settled by incorporating at this time.

Objectors may appear at the hearing to be held on November 28th, and voice their opinions. Chamber of Commerce directors, sponsors of the plan, anticipate a few people to appear in opposition. They will, however, be met with proponents who will endeavor to correct any misapprehension existing in their minds as to the advisability of the action.

It was pointed out to the Press this week by Richard Morton, attorney for the petitioners, that the Board of Supervisors will only be concerned with the matter of satisfactory boundaries. The question of incorporating having already been settled and passed by the Board Such a preponderance of residents desire to have Campbell incorporated that it is felt the Board can hardly do otherwise than to pass and approve the measure.

NO IMMEDIATE FIRE HOUSE CONSTRUCTION

Since the Board of Supervisors turned down the allocation of funds for the construction of several District fire houses throughout the county at their last meeting, it would seem that the urgency is becoming acute for the business-like settlement of civic affairs affecting Campbell. As matters stand now our fire department, with all their zeal are going to feel the pinch of a rapidly expanding community. Fire and Police protection should be number one on the list of civic functions that a community must have. There should be no doubts in anyone's mind about the very great need for both these public services. Campbell's growth is nothing short of remarkable. Hundreds upon hundreds of new homes have been erected in the past year or so. Hundreds more are at this moment under construction. New businesses are coming in. Only this week four business men, new to Campbell, came into this office and announced their intentions of starting businesses here. Not in the future, but right now! They have their locations, merchandise is on the way to them, and in a matter of days they will be "in business.' The type of business men now in Campbell and the t'ype of the new ones coming in is of the highest calibre. There are certain basic things to be done to encourage all these men, and more like them, to make of Campbell a first class business and residental town. Many things are needed besides adequate police and fire protection, but it would seem to us that those two top the list. Next in importance is the establishment of a bank. It is almost unbelievable that a communtiy of this size must get along without its own bank. The inconvenience and time lost is a great aggravation to merchants. They must now travel to San Jose, Los Gatos or Santa Clara and spend many precious minutes standing in line to transact their banking affairs. We do not mean to imply that incorporation will effect the cure for all these faults. We do believe however that any community of this size can handle its affairs so much better if there is a central governing body of its own townspeople. Incorporation is certainly a start in the right direction.

CIVIC BOOSTER

A bouquet should be tossed to L. E. Garcia for his efforts to round up the necessary funds to place Christmas decorations and lights on Campbell streets. Mr. Garcia worked hard and long on this project and secured nearly $600. The goal was $800, and he would undoubtedly have reached it except that his own business needed him. Donations are still needed and those wishing to participate should take their donations to Ira Grim, president of the Chamber of Commerce

Remember—you must register to vote. The place—Farley's real estate office on the corner of Central and Campbell avenues. And most important of all—go out and cast your vote at election time. Then, come what may, you've done your part as a citizen.

Flag-Rising for the World

The new official flag of the United Nations, approved by the General Assembly, is raised by three U.N. guards over the world organization's headquarters at Lake Success, New York. The banner is light blue with the United Nations' emblem in white emblazoned on it.

READERS' LETTERS

Rt. 2, ox 750 Rincon Ave.
Oct. 26, 1947.
Campbell Chamber of Commerce

Dear Neighbors:

Unable to attend the recent meeting at the high school, I 'phoned several friends to go and speak for me, which I trust they did. One of them wrote back of a very eager and vital discussion the consensus of which seemed to him to be that if the boundaries were wisely set to include only lands in the fire and sanitary districts, everyone would be satisfied. As that expressed my own desires, I felt much relieved.

Now, however, comes my copy of the Press for Oct. 22, listing proposed boundaries which make the same error on the west to which I sostrongly protested in the Press last year, weaving around to take in a host of little orchardists to whom incorporation will work a real hardship. I refer especially to the far western ends of Campbell Ave., Rincon Ave., and Budd Ave., running down San Tomas creek from Latimer to Sunny Oaks, a district so remote and rural that it cannot benefit from the added tax, which will be a serious burden to these small family orchards on which the character of our Sunsweet product so largely depends.

A much more normal western boundary would be a line almost exactly one-half mile west of Santa Clara-Los Gatos Road, in line with the old Parr Lane, the eastern boundary of my land on Rincon. Subdivision has never penetrated west of this line. From here to the San Tomas creek, our bird sanctuary, are only small orchards whose owners are not interested in incorporation.

Wedo not want city lights—we live in the country to avoid that. We do not want central sewers. Our sanitary cess-pools put the purified waste back into the soil which needs it. Campbell's honored little fire department can do nothing for us—indeed the record shows that in the congested town its principle use is to save adjacent buildings when fire strikes. We know that with our isolated buildings we must be our own fire wardens. Good roads we DO want, and in this are well served by the County. It is proverbial that a city, especially a small one, neglects its outlying streets which soon drop below the county standard. Police protection, too, is a concern of the town. We have little to steal. With tools put away at night, a good dog and frinedly neighborly relations, we put little reliance on a distant policeman. As Mr. Lynch pointed out, even in the town a Police District and a Recreation District can do the extra hat incorporation seeks, and at less cost.

Surely you see the difference in needs and desires between the town dwller and the farmer! A fair line between them is essential to that happy mutual fellowship we've always enjoyed in Campbell. Only in incorporated places do you find a conflict between town and country; and we see now how it may come about, by unfair imposition of burdens.

The question of incorporation is largely one of cost of services. And if enough want it, the townsfolk should have another chance to vote on whether they can afford incorporation. ut to invite them to shift the cost to the outlying farmer and then vote "Yes, we can afford it!" is neither honest nor fair. This was clearly brought out in the election earlier this year. Why not try a fair boundary this time and let us orchardists stay out of the contest?

Please, then, won't you rectify that western boundary before you go to the Supervisors?

Cordially yours, for fair play,

ALICE JOY KEITH.

Campbell Court Notes

By Judge Blaine

This women called on Campbell Justice Court on behalf of a cafe proprietor, a good friend, who had been arrested for illegal sale of hard liquor. Now she was trying to influence the judge to be lenient.

She said that she was a proinent club woman of San Jose, well versed in politics. In any election she could deliver 300 votes.

Thus she went on, meanwhile showing off furs and jewels. She was good looking, too, with a "prima donna" figure. Her facial, of course, was flawless. And so on and so on.

But she failed to consider that the Campbell judge was used to feminine charm in the home town. Shall we say that he had acquired a certain immunity? Be that as it may, let's go on with the story.

After perhaps 30 minutes of this entertainment the judge said, "Lady, please don't be depressed if I don't do as you desire. Your influence here has as much weight as that of the President and all his cabinet on the same errand—to wit, not the weight of a postage stamp."

That story reminds us of another. One day a friend called and said. "Judge, Blank asked me to come and see you about his drunk-driving case. I promised I would see you. Now I'm looking at you. Now I can truthfully say I've seen you. Fine weather we're having. Good day."

One more. A certain popular business man had been arrested a second time for violating terms of his liquor license. Besides, he had gone to pieces morally. But he had old associations; and he sent business friend after friend to see the judge. To one of these friends the judge said:

"Suppose we take up a collection to pay this man's fine. I'll lead off with $5. Is it a go?"

"No."

"Then your feeling for this man is like that for an old and familiar dog or cat."

"Yes, and we'd rather somebody else would take him out and chliroform him!"

Campbell Bucs Down Eagles

Last Friday afternoon Campbell Varsity defeated Mountain View High football team, who last year handed the Bucs a 34-6 defeat.

Mt. View kicked off to Campbell who returned the ball 40 yards. The Bucs, sparked by fleetfooted Harold Orcutt, drove forth for four consecutive first downs. Wilson carried the ball which rested on the one foot line into the end zone, and again for the extra point. The Bucs took this 7-0 lead with only four minutes having passed in the first quarter.

The Eagles took the kickoff and returned it five yards. They took to the airways tossing the ball for a first down. Injured on that play was Reg Gazay, Co-Captain for the game. His injury will take him from the team for the remainder of the season.

The Bucs regained possession of the ball when Danny Hill recovered an Eagle fumble on the Eagle 22yard line. Orcutt faded back and passed the ball into the waiting arms of Jesse Holt who went over to score. Orcutt tried a run for the extra point but was stopped behind the line.

After kicking off to Mt. View and forcing them to punt, Campbell took over on their wn 33 After picking up a first down, Orcutt completed a pass to Dayton who was stopped on the two yard line. Merrill carried the ball through the line and into the end zone for a touchdown. Ambler added the extra point and Campbell led 20-0 at the half.

Campbell kicked to Mt. View to open the scoreless third quarter. It was not a scoreless half though, for in the fourth quarter Mt. View completed a pass from their own 45 to the Bucs 15 yard line. They proved their passing ability into the end zone for the touchdown and again for the extra point.

In the closing minutes of the game Orcutt passed from the Eagle fourty yard line to Richard Aberanaute who scored the Bucs' fourth and final touchdown. Hill passed to Abernaute for the extra point and to the end the scoring at 27-7.

LEVENBERGS HOLD ANNUAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Budd Levenberg entertained recently in the rumpus room of their home on the Los Gatos-San Jose road.

HISTORY OF CAMPBELL

By T. A. CUTTING

The Murpries with covered wagons and a herd of cattle also headed west in 1841. At the first river crossing their cattle, driven into the water, circled about and returned to the same bank a little further down stream. By roping a steer and tying him to a boat, he was made to swim across; the other cattle followed him as leader. They came to a Pawnee village in which there remained only a few old women; the remainder had been taken captive or killed by Sioux. Buffalos were numerous on the plains, but were crafty and required skillful hunting to kill. At Fort Laramie they came upon an encampment of 4000 Sioux Indians, but since whole families were present they were not on the war path. The Indians made them nervous and the wagons were kept in close line. The captain of the train prohibited camp fires that might attract the Indians, but one man thought there was no danger and built one any way. Others kicked it out. As the trail led up the Platt, they killed buffalos for meat which attracted bears and wolves at night. Two hunters out for game lost the wagons and had to spend the night by themselves. Next morning they found the wagon trail and followed it to the train. At the summit of the Rockies they rejoiced to find the streams flowing to the west. On attempting a short-cut to Green River they ran out of water and tasted their first real hardship. Some of the hunters sighted one day a Sioux war party in time to avoid them, and afterward encountered a band of friendly Snake Indians out in pursuit of the Sioux.

From Fort Hall they crossed over to the Humboldt River which they followed across Nevada. The Indians here were friendly but lazy and came in great numbers every night to visit the camp of the strangers. The hoofs of the oxen were still in good shape, but some were made sick by drinking alkali water along the route.

As they approached the Sierras they secured an Indian named Truckee as a guide. Upon reaching a river which they named after him, they followed it up into the mountains. It became swift and crooked, between steep banks and they had to follow its bed. This softened the hoofs of the oxen, and the stones bruised them until they were very footsore. Then came a foot of snow which covered their feed, and the cattle came near starvation. At last some of the party abandoned their wagons, but the Murphies kept on. They finally came to Donner Lake and followed along its north shore, but soon after encountered a perpendicular rock ten feet high which they could seemingly neither climb with the wagons nor get around. They finally found a device wide enough for a single ox, and one by one got them through. Then they fastened chains to the wagon tongues and snaked them up. At last they reached the headwaters of the Yuba and made their way down to Sacramento.

Three of the party agreed to stay behind to guard the merchandise left in the abandoned wagons. They constructed a log cabin about twelve by fourteen feet in size with an open door and no windows. Then the snow came in earnest. They thought that it would soon melt in sunny California, but as the days passed it only became deeper and deeper. They killed the cows, for there was no feed for them, and lived upon the meat. When it became apparent that this would soon be gone, they made crude snow shoes and decided to follow the others.

At the close of the first day Moses Shallenberger, a mere youth, was suffering from such fatigue and cramps that he was unable to continue. The fire that they built melted a hole ten feet deep in the snow, but it kept them from freezing through a sleepless night. Next morning, unable to go on, Moses said good-bye to the others and returned to the cabin alone. He reached it just before dark, so weak that he could get his feet over the door sill only by using his hands to lift them. He built a fire and survived the night. Next day he saw fox and coyote tracks and went hunting without success. He had only a quarter of beef between him and starvation. Then he discovered some traps among the items of merchandise intended for the California trade, and they kindled a new hope. He set his traps, baited with fragments of ox heads, on the crusted snow and next morning found a coyote in one of them. The meat was tough and wholly unpalatable; he roasted it, boiled it, fried it, but nothing would improve the flavor. The next morning he caught a fox, which seemed delicious. LADY— YOU DID IT!

This is the season of the year when those annoying fuse "blow-out" may occur in the home. There are several reasons for these "pesky" mishaps and there are a few precautions you can take to avoid them.

Take these simple precautions and you will avoid trouble this fall and winter:

1. Handle plugs and cords carefully. Tighten up loose screws and nuts in plugs and on appliances.
2. Repair or replace old and frayed cords on all appliances. Check your cords now.
3. Keep spare fuses on hand. It takes only a few seconds to replace a burned-out fuse.

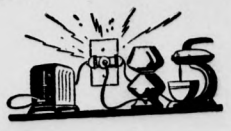

You will be home more hours a day during the coming cold and rainy season thus giving your lamps, radios and appliances longer hours of service. Give them all some care and repair servicing now.

TAKE CARE of plugs that start spittin' like a kitten. It is advance notice that a wire is about to burn through or a plug terminal is about to giveway.

BEWARE of jerking appliances about by the cord. This loosens terminal connections and causes short circuits and blowouts.

BEWARE of using too many appliances at one time on a branch circuit. This overloads circuits and causes blowouts.

TAKE CARE to have a supply of fuses of the right size on hand. 15 ampere fuses (not 20 or 30 amperes) are right for lighting circuits.

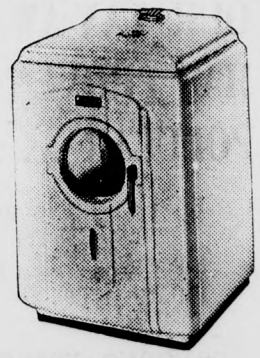

Buy a supply of fuses from your dealer today.

Cheese Soufflé—When Meat is Scarce

Here's the answer for today's meal and many other days ahead—golden-brown Cheese Soufflé that's a picture of deliciousness as it comes out of the oven. Light as a summer breeze and so easy to make with this tested recipe, it is also a perfect substitute for meat. Serve the family's favorite vegetables and round out the meal with fresh fruit and iced tea or coffee. The family will never miss the meat and you'll win new honors as a cook.

Light as a feather, it melts in the mouth

CHEESE SOUFFLÉ

4 tablespoons Spry
5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
dash of cayenne
1½ cups milk
1 cup grated yellow cheese or smoked cheese
6 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Melt Spry in saucepan, add flour, salt, paprika, and cayenne and blend well. Add milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Remove from heat. Add beaten egg yolks, and blend thoroughly. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into 1½-quart Spry-coated casserole and place casserole in pan of warm water. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 40-50 minutes. The soufflé should have a golden-brown crust on top. Serves 6.

ahead of his hunger, and he was in continual fear lest the supply should fail, but he finally never did have to eat the coyotes. He had no bread or other food, but found that meat alone satisfied his hunger, even as it does that of the Eskimo. He read books that he found among the goods, but it was difficult to control his loneliness and to find use for his time. His joy when Dennis Martin came for him in February can be imagined. With improved snow shoes, he accompanied Martin over to Sacramento, and eventually purchased a ranch on the Coyote creek.

Mary Pyle Overfelt at the age of ninety still recalled how, as a little girl of seven, her folks had come over the mountains in 1846. On the Nevada side of the mountains their party passed the Donners who had camped on a meadow. A little farther on they also stopped to let their animals feed and rest while the men went out to hunt. It was October, somewhat late in the season, but the pass was unusually open through November. The whole train had taken the Hastings short-cut south of Great Salt Lake through the desert and had lost about three weeks in the attempt. They had been stalked by Indians who had stolen whatever goods and cattle they could safely take and had gone through tortures on the desert. In dealing with superior numbers of Indians tact and forbearance was necessary to avoid massacre.

While they were hunting it began to rain, and Hastings, alarmed, urged them back to the wagons. With no time lost the Pyles yoked up their oxen and began the climb over the mountains. That night there was a heavy fall of snow, but they kept on and finally came through in safety —the last party to do so before the passes were blocked with snow for the winter.

The Donners, just behind, did not make it. Some took refuge in the cabin built by the Murphy party two years before. New shelters were erected, and some of them prepared to stay through the winter or until help should arrive. Seventeen of the most able-bodied attempted to cross the divide on foot, but only seven of them got through alive. Many of those left behind starved before they could be taken out; and in the end only about half of the party of eighty survived.

Crossing the plains in wagons was a rigorous and dangerous enterprise. Many died of sickness and hardship, some were killed by Indians. All were sure to taste of privation and hardship; but there was always the challenge of adventure and the exhilaration of overcoming difficulties. Ingenuity was in constant demand to circumvent new obstacles and dull moments were few. In some, danger stimulated cruelty and cowardice; in others it brought out sacrifices of love and heroism.

Orchard City Grange Notes

At the last meeting of Orchard City Grange, held in Odd Fellows' Hall, October 28, the principal order of business was reports of delegates to the California State Grange Convention, held in Sacramento, Oct. 21-24. Worthy Master Herbert Shadle made the principal report covering nearly all sessions of the convention. Home Economics chairman, Katherine Shadle, reported on the activities of the ladies at the Convention, followed by reports from Leone Keesling, Lady Ass't Steward, Mervyn Keesling, ass't Steward, Harry Barnes, worthy Treas. of Orchard City Grange, and Executive Committeeman of Calif. State Grange, Marie Barnes, Pianist, and worthy Master Ida Skow, of San Jose Grange.

This was the Diamond Jubilee Convention, the 75th annual Convention of the Calif. State Grange. The Grange is in the strongest position of its long life with nearly 35,000 members. Geo. Sehlmeyer, of Sacraento, was reelected Master He has served for nearly 20 years. In his Reynole address Sehlmeyer declared aid to Europe should be continued as long as countries seekin relief cooperate by helping themselves to the limit; asked a convention declaration on a proposal to place farm labor under Social Security and unemployment insurance; warned of surpluses to come, and added, "We do not subscribe to the policy that farm prices cover be lifted through the fallacy of economic scarcity. Paying labor not to work and farmers not to produce is not sound economy."

In one limited space we can only touch on a few resolutions that were outstanding. The convention voted to tighten the laws governing the Sale of liquor; asked that the Legislature pass laws doing away with dual or cross filing on party tickets; asked that the wording of initiative measures before the people should be in plain language instead of law school terminology; and decided that the president and vice president of the United States should be elected by direct vote of the people.

The State Grange office building is now debt free, the note having been burned at ceremonies earlier in the convention. Orchard City Grange No. 333, of Campbell, is one of many subordinate units making up the State Grange. held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov

Santa Clara Farm Bureau News

A large delegation of farmers from Santa Clara county are expected to attend the 29th annua convention of the California Farm Bureau Federation, in Long Beach, November 17-20, it was announced by Charles J. Cali, president of the S. C. County Farm Bureau.

Cali said that in many instances the members would be accompanied by their wives, and preliminary estimates indicate that all previous convention attendance records will be broken by the Long Beach meeting.

According to Cali the Federation and its 47 county farm bureaus now represent nearly 50,000 farm families, and a new record in paid-up membership, closely approximating this total, will be announced at the Long Beach convention. The program for the convention, now being completed, includes as key speakers, U.S. Senator Sheridan Downey, Gov. Earl Warren, Herbert W. Voorhees, president of the New Jersey Farm Bureau Federation; Ray B. Wiser, president of the California federation; Forter Taylor, director of the fruit and vegetable department, American F. B. Federation; Wendell Calhoun, bureau of agricultural economics; and many state farm leaders.

The Federation's policies for the coming year, dealing with many vital and pressing problems facing farmers, will be formulated by the organization's house of delegates, acting as a resolutions committee. Each of the 47 county Farm Bureaus is represented in the house of delegates.

Water, prices, and taxes [illegible] issues of paramount importance to the 138,931 farmers of the state —will form the foundation of the California F.B.F. program of action for 1948.

Fairs Assume New Importance

Greatest untold story is the prospect of development of the 89 non-profit fairs of the rapidly growing Far West as newly expanded market areas, for which the fairs are currently launching a $20,000,000 building program in five states and western Canada.

So reported Secretary Russell E. Pettit of the Santa Clara County Fair, Santa Clara, in a committee report to the Wesern Fairs Association annual meeting in San Francisco November 7-8, at the Hotel Whitcomb.

Local Man In S. F. Ballet

A Nation of Grape Eaters

By BETTY BARCLAY

Would you believe that over three billion pounds of grapes are consumed each year? Yes, we Americans are great grape eaters. We really enjoy the lush flavor of this royal fruit—and we like it most of all in the form of sweet spreads. Each year homemakers throughout the nation take time out to make at least a few glasses of grape jams, jellies, conserves, or butters. Even during the war when sugar was so short, smart women everywhere managed to save enough to make a few glasses of their favorite delicacy. Thanks to short boil small quantity recipes this was, and still is quite possible. And most important of all natural fruit pectin insures a perfect "jell" every time.

Here are two recipes we've tried and liked. Won't you try them too?

Grape Jam

2⅞ cups prepared fruit
3½ cups sugar
4½ tablespoons (½ package) powdered fruit pectin*

To prepare the fruit. Slip skins from about 1½ pounds fully ripe loose-skinned grapes. (Concord grapes give best color and flavor.) Add ⅔ cup water; bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Sieve to remove seeds. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp. Measure 2⅞ cups into a large saucepan.

To make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Add sugar at once. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 6 six-ounce glasses.

*Mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring.

Grape Jelly

2⅛ cups juice*
3½ cups sugar
¼ cup bottled fruit pectin

To prepare the juice. Stem about 1½ pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. (Concord grapes give best color and flavor.) Add ½ cup water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 2⅛ cups juice into a large saucepan.

To make the jelly. Add sugar to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add bottled fruit pectin at once. (Scrape all bottled fruit pectin from measuring cup.) Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 5 six-ounce glasses.

*Note: ⅛ cup is 2 tablespoons.
